

STUBAI „BAUMHAUSWEG“ SCHLICK 2000

Large and small visitors alike will be welcomed by Bardin at the half-way station of the Kreuzjochbahn cable car in the Schlick 2000 ski resort. The dwarf marks the entrance to the forest covering an area of almost 5,000 m², through which the Baumhausweg passes on an easily accessible route, suitable for prams and pushchairs. On the roughly two-hour hike from the half-way station to Vergör and back again, the ascent is only about 100 metres. And, of course, a few more than that if you add climbing up to the five spectacular tree houses along the way.

If you follow the newly-laid path from the half-way station to Froneben, you will reach the first tree house, the Dwarf Playground, not far from the cable car station. We continue with the Dwarf Treasure Trove, the Dwarf Kitchen, the Dwarf Bedroom in the form of a swinging house and the Dwarf Workshop. There's lots to see in the varied and exciting tree houses: a zip line, a rope bridge, a net tunnel, a double rope swing, swinging ropes, pick-a-sticks with branches and wooden building blocks, as well as an exciting treasure hunt, are all waiting to be discovered!
